Dear Friends,

This coming Thursday evening St. Therese will host an evening of prayer and praise, and of healing as we pray and venerate the relics of St. Therese the Little Flower, and Blessed Fr. Stanley Rother. In the evening preaching we will have the opportunity to learn more about Blessed Stanley and pray for the Church Suffering. I hope you will take the time to come and spend some time in prayer. We will have prayer cards for both the saints that you may touch to the relics. Just as the woman in the scriptures who suffered for many years hoped to touch the hem of Jesus' tunic, so our faith in the communion of the saints may unite us to the martyrdom or the sanctity of those who have gone before us in faith.

The veneration of relics of the saints is found in the early history of the Church. A letter written by the faithful of the Church in Smyrna in the year 156 provides an account of the death of St. Polycarp, their bishop, who was burned at the stake. The letter reads, "We took up the bones, which are more valuable than precious stones and finer than refined gold, and laid them in a suitable place, where the Lord will permit us to gather ourselves together as we are able, in gladness and joy, and celebrate the birthday of his martyrdom." Essentially, the relics—the bones and other remains of St. Polycarp—"were buried the relics of the martyrs in order to better adore Him whose martyrs they are" and the tomb itself was the "reliquary."

We have modest reliquaries for our saint and our blessed that will be present for veneration. The relic of Blessed Stanley is a gift to me from Archbishop Paul Coakley of Oklahoma City. Relics are never bought or sold. Fr. William Saunders wrote concerning relics, "In his Letter to Riparius, St. Jerome (d. 420) wrote in defense of relics: "We do not worship, we do not adore, for fear that we should bow down to the creature rather than to the Creator, but we venerate the relics of the martyrs in order the better to adore Him whose martyrs they are." "

Peace and Prayers,

Fr. Kerry Prendiville

The Rite of Beatification was held on Sept. 23, 2017, in Oklahoma City — an event attended by more than 20,000 people from around the world. His memorial is July 28, the day he died in 1981.

In the Gospel, Jesus teaches us that God is our "Father" and just as a parent's love for the children is unlimited, so is God's love and care for us unlimited.

ONE MORE LITTLE LAUGH ...

Hoss rode into town to buy a bull. Unfortunately, when he bought it, he was left with one dollar. Hoss needed to tell his wife to come with the truck and get the bull, but telegrams cost one dollar per word. Hoss said to the telegram man, "OK. I have my one word-'comfortable'." "Why do you want to tell her that?" asked the telegram man. "Oh, she's not the best reader," Hoss said. "She'll read it really slowly". (Com-for-ta-ble), get it?

Saint Thérèse of the Child Jesus (1873 - 1897)

Marie-Françoise-Thérèse Martin was born in Alençon, in France, on 2 January 1873. Her mother, who already had breast cancer, died when Thérèse was four, and the family moved to Lisieux. She became a nun at the Carmelite convent there at the age of 15, after a long battle against the superior, who insisted that 16, or even 21, would be a more sensible age. She died of tuberculosis at the age of 24, and that was that. Another forgotten nun: born, was good, died. Holy, no doubt; but nothing much to write home about. In 1895 Mother Agnès of Jesus, the prioress, had commanded Thérèse to write her memoirs. Writing "not to produce a literary work, but under obedience," Thérèse took a year to fill six exercise books. She presented them to the prioress, who put them in a drawer unread. A year after Thérèse's death, the memoirs were published in a small edition of 2,000: the first spark that ignited a "storm of glory" that swept the world. Miracles started to happen: conversions, cures, even apparitions. "We must lose no time in crowning the little saint with glory," said the Prefect of the Congregation of Rites, "if we do not want the voice of the people to anticipate us." The beatification process opened thirteen years after Thérèse's death. She was canonized in 1925, the Pope having suspended the rule that forbids canonization less than 50 years after someone's death.

When Thérèse was 17, she confided to a visiting Jesuit her hope of becoming a great saint and to love God as much as the Carmelite Saint Teresa of Ávila. The Jesuit thought he found traces of pride and presumption and advised her to moderate her desires. "Why, Father?" asked Thérèse, "since our Lord has said, Be perfect as your heavenly Father is perfect." 100 years after Thérèse's death, Pope John Paul II declared her a Doctor of the Church, joining St Catherine of Siena and St Teresa of Ávila.

The very storm of glory that propelled Thérèse into sainthood makes her a difficult saint for many of us to stomach. The late 19th century was a highly sentimental period, and much of the literature about Thérèse has taken that quality and made it sweeter and sicker still, to the point where you feel like brushing your teeth after reading every page. There are antidotes. One is raw Thérèse: The Story of a Soul is still in print in most languages. Another is a clear and astringent biography such as that by Guy Gaucher, Bishop of Meaux (which may be hard to find but is worth looking for).

What makes St Thérèse so special?

We have grown used to the idea that just as there are people with talents for sport or scholarship, and the rest of us can only admire them without trying to keep up, so there are people with a talent for holiness and heroic virtue, and the rest of us can only bumble along as best we can. We can't do better because we're not designed to do better, so there's no point in trying. We sink into a consoling mediocrity.

Thérèse wrecks this. She was physically weak and psychologically vulnerable. For her the great saints were giants, they were inaccessible mountains, and she was only an "obscure grain of sand;" but she was not discouraged. St John of the Cross taught her that God can never inspire desires that cannot be fulfilled. The Book of Proverbs told her, "If anyone is a very little one, let him come to me." If you only look, Scripture is permeated with images of our littleness and weakness with respect to God, and of his care for us in our insignificance.

Thérèse's "Little Way" means taking God at his word and letting his love for us wash away our sins and imperfections. When a priest told her that her falling asleep during prayer was due to a want of fervour and fidelity and she should be desolate over it, she wrote "I am not desolate. I remember that little children are just as pleasing to their parents when they are asleep as when they are awake."
